

Fair Impact Programme

From boardroom to breakroom

At CNV Internationaal we have the tools to go beyond compliance and to make real impact in your supply chain. Our Fair Impact Programme offers tailored support for responsible business practices.

We work with Dutch and international companies to improve labour conditions in global supply chains, both from our office in the Netherlands and on the ground in countries such as Colombia, South Africa and Indonesia. From identifying workplace risks through Fair Work Monitor surveys, to facilitating stakeholder engagement and collective action: this programme supports companies to advance fair work across their supply chain.

Are we a match?

Is your business connected to global supply chains of:

- ✓ • critical minerals (copper, nickel, or manganese)
- agricultural commodities (such as palm oil, sugarcane, cashew or horticulture)
- textiles?

Do you source from Africa, Asia or Latin America?

- ✓
- ✓ Are you looking to strengthen your human rights due diligence and fair work practices?

If you answered 'yes' to the questions above, let's connect. We have a strong network in the supply chains and regions where we operate. If you're sourcing from these areas, there's a good chance we can support your efforts to contribute to fair working conditions.

CNV Internationaal

Everyone deserves safe working conditions and a living wage, whether on a farm in Senegal, a mine in Peru, or a textile factory in Cambodia. CNV Internationaal has been championing fair work worldwide for nearly 60 years. We train local unions, promote inclusive agreements, and collect worker data through our Fair Work Monitor.

The Fair Work Monitor

CNV Internationaal has developed the Fair Work Monitor: a tool that captures the voices of workers. It provides direct insight into the working conditions on the ground. The Fair Work Monitor collects data through participatory digital surveys and monitoring rounds in collaboration with local unions.

We have a lot of data and expertise on working conditions on the ground, especially on occupational health and safety, living wages, social dialogue and freedom of association. We can advise on risks associated with your supply chain, facilitate social dialogue or implement fair work monitor surveys. We currently have surveys on mining, palm oil, sugarcane and textile. You can participate in an existing survey, or we can explore co-developing a new one.
